OSA Security called about 1800 this evening to say that [REDACTED] had called requesting further information on some of the technical parameters for the computers which we list in the RFP for System XVIII. In particular, he is interested in knowing the characteristics of the [REDACTED] etc., system analyzers.

Would you please give [REDACTED] a call or ask [REDACTED] to give him a call to provide him with this information. [REDACTED] number is [REDACTED]

If you feel that by providing this information, we give [REDACTED] some advantage, then perhaps we ought to put out a letter to all bidders with this information. Based on [REDACTED] interpretation of what [REDACTED] wanted, I think they are only interested in a general idea and I presume the interest might be rather trivial.
